Fundraiser's boost for cancer care unit

Cricket club stalwart wins an OSCA!

Kitty gets the chop for charity!

Catherine (Kitty) Penman holds aloft her lopped locks after her sponsored haircut Code1082634

WHEN little Catherine Pauline Penman lost one of her grandmothers to pancreatic cancer she wanted to do her bit to raise awareness of the disease.

So the eight–year–old from Up Holland, known as Kitty, decided to have a sponsored crop of her flowing locks.

Staff at her local hairdressers, Route 66 in School Lane, gave their services for free and Kitty donated her hair to the Little Princess Trust, which provides real hair wigs for children with cancer.

She also raised more than £850 in sponsorship for Pancreatic Cancer UK – more than four–and–a–half times her original target figure of £200.

Catherine's other gran, Rita McAleavey, said: "My granddaughter came up with this idea all by herself. I want to thank Route 66 for donating their services on the day and also their sponsorship.

"I hope this will make more people aware of this cancer and give whatever they can."

RESIDENTS' FURY OVER 'FILTH' LEFT BY TRAVELLERS

Report by Henry James

ANGRY residents have hit out after a group of travellers left a local playing field looking like what one described as "a war zone."

The travellers had set up camp on the Garnett Lees playing fields near to the Windmill roundabout in Up Holland.

After being served a notice to quit by West Lancs Council they then moved just down the road to the neighbouring Chequer Lane playing field and have since left the area.

However, a number of residents have contacted the Champion to complain about the amount of rubbish left behind. They also claim that the travellers appear to flout rules about litter and dumping without facing prosecution.

Graham Walker, from Up Holland, told us: "Thanks to the council for their prompt action in removing the recent travellers from Garnett Lees playing fields, which are well used and looked after.

"However, I visited after the travellers had gone and was appalled at the detritus and filth left. When I was there the field was a health hazard."

Another resident, who asked to be known only as Steve, added: "What the travellers have done to the field is horrendous. They really cause disruption for local residents.

Some of the rubbish left behind at Garnett Lees playing fields

"They have dumped everything there – from excrement to tyres, half a conservatory, used metal and loads. It's like a war zone – a scene of absolute devastation.

"I have spoken to the police about it but they say that their hands are tied and I feel that this sets a dangerous precedent.

"If I was to dump the rubbish I would be fined and the council would be right to do that. The same would happen if my dog fouled there, I would be prosecuted.

"But the travellers don't seem to face prosecution. I think it's disgraceful. The costs incurred by them always seems to get picked up by taxpayers.

"This has caused disruption for local people. We are all shocked and I always feel that you can't engage with the travellers. Children couldn't use the site at the moment and I think it will take some time to clean it up."

Meanwhile, Graham Walker called on the council to carry out work on Garnett Lees playing fields to prevent the travellers returning.

He said: "This annual occupation by travellers has to my knowledge been happening for at least 10 years, always requiring council action. Is it not about time a permanent solution was carried out to prevent a further occurrence?"

A spokesman for West Lancs Council said: "The council has effective procedures in place to deal with unauthorised encampments.

CCTV helping to keep a lid on crime in borough say council

COUNCIL chiefs claim a new report shows the effectiveness of the authority's CCTV system in keeping crime low in West Lancashire.

Over the last five years the council has invested heavily in its public open space system and expanded the scheme to install cameras in areas which previously had no coverage. It currently operates 95 public open space cameras which are monitored 24 hours a day 365 days a year.

The authority has just published its second annual CCTV report and key achievements highlighted in it include:

- CCTV staff assisted in 363 arrests by police officers in West Lancashire.
- Evidential quality footage was provided to Lancashire Police on 223 occasions.
- CCTV staff were involved in 499 missing/vulnerable person 'incidents'.
- They were also involved in monitoring 345 cash deliveries/collections to ensure they were carried out without incident.
- Operators identified 1,096 incidents themselves through general monitoring.

The council say public open space CCTV cameras act as a deterrent but can also assist in the identification of people or vehicles involved in criminal activity. Many of the newer cameras are located near to roads in or out of West Lancs and are useful in helping to tackle 'travelling criminals.'

Council bosses believe the figures in the report show the value of the system and 10 more cameras are to be installed over the next year to provide wider coverage with the aim of making West Lancashire even safer.

Councillor Kevin Wright, the council's portfolio holder for community safety, said:

CCTV cameras are helping to keep crime low in West Lancs according to council

"This report underlines the value of the system and its operators. The experience of the operators and their close working relationship with the police helps to ensure we achieve great results from our system.

"CCTV can deter criminals and assist with making the public feel safe. West Lancashire is a safe place to live and work and we want to ensure this continues."

And West Lancashire Police Inspector June Chessell commented: "Lancashire Constabulary fully support the use of CCTV and it can assist us in providing key evidence. At a local level I am extremely impressed with the WLBC scheme which continues to go from strength to strength.

"The operators also perform a key task in relation to preventing crimes and perform a vital link between the streets of West Lancashire and ourselves."

School's fond farewell to long–serving head

A HEADTEACHER, who was the first teacher appointed when her school opened its doors, has retired after 39 years in the classroom.

Mrs Annette Hirst joined Cobbs Brow Primary in Manfield, Skelmersdale back in 1976, later becoming deputy head and finally headteacher in 2006.

Under her leadership the school has achieved a number of accolades.

In 2014 it was judged outstanding by Ofsted inspectors and achieved the EYFS Quality Mark and the Primary Quality Mark.

Mrs Hirst also introduced the Little Acorns nursery for three and four–year–olds eight years ago and in October last year she opened the Tiny Acorns nursery for under–twos.

Both have been judged to be outstanding following recent Ofsted inspections.

And deputy–head Ian Eaton, has paid tribute to the departing headteacher.

He said: "Mrs Hirst has worked tirelessly throughout her career, her work ethic is second to none. I cannot remember her ever being absent through illness, her energy is limitless and she simply never stops.

"Annette has many qualities, but the one that shines through is her love for the children. She's not just their headteacher, she's their friend.

"She has touched the lives of thousands of people throughout her amazing career and the amount of best wishes and tributes paid to her is a testament of the love everyone has for her.

"The children, parents, staff and governors wish her every happiness and good health throughout her retirement. She has certainly earned a good rest."

Hunt for gang who targeted OAPs' home

POLICE are hunting a gang who pushed their way into a pensioner's home and demanded cigarettes.

The incident happened at about 9pm on Friday, July 24 when a woman knocked on the door of a terraced house in Ennerdale, Skelmersdale.

As the 80–year–old homeowner opened the door, five men all with their faces covered and wearing dark clothing, entered the house, pushing the pensioner out of the way and causing a minor injury to his arm.

They demanded that the man and his wife hand over cigarettes and searched the house briefly before leaving empty–handed.

A spokesman for Lancashire Police said: "At approximately 9pm on Friday, July 24 an address on Ennerdale in Skelmersdale was targeted by a group of five–six youths. We are appealing for anybody with any information regarding this incident to ring 101 quoting log number LC–20150724–1395."

Tories stage council walk–out

CONSERVATIVE councillors staged a walk–out at the full meeting of West Lancs Council last Wednesday (July 22) when a Labour councillor put forward a motion about fracking.

Scott ward Councillor John Hodson called on the council to congraulate Lancashire County Council's recent decisions to refuse the applications to frack in Lancashire.

However, all of the Conservative councillors who were at the meeting chose to leave when the fracking motion was called and it was carried by the remaining councillors following a recorded vote

Ironman Liam toughs it out for worthy cause

Report by Henry James

AN adrenaline–fuelled fundraiser from Skelmersdale has completed a gruelling triathlon to raise more than £700 for the North West Air Ambulance.

Liam Riley, who regularly takes part in sporting activities on behalf of the charity, was one of more than 2,400 athletes who lined up for the Ironman UK triathlon at the Leigh Sports Village.

The event started with a 2.4–mile swim across Pennington Flash, followed by a 112–mile bike ride in and around Lancashire and finishing with a 26.2–mile marathon in the streets of Bolton.

Typically, entrants are given 17 hours to complete the challenge but 28–year–old Liam had set himself the personal target of finishing within 12 hours. He just missed out by five minutes, coming 313th out of the 2,400 competitors and will soon see himself branded with the event logo for his first–ever tattoo.

Liam, who works for a company which supplies train operators First TransPennine Express, has been building up to tackle the triathlon for more than two years, running 26 miles per week, together with six–mile swims, 100–mile bike rides and a series of strength and conditioning classes.

He had hoped to raise £500 for the air ambulance but with a helping hand of £250, courtesy of First TransPennine Express, he was able to surpass his target eventually totalling £740.

Liam said: "I can't thank First TransPennine Express enough for helping me reach half of my donation target and putting that faith in me.

"I've completed long–distance events in the past, including the Ironman half–triathlon in just over six hours, but this was my longest and most rewarding yet. It was absolutely fantastic, exhausting and emotional.

"An unforeseen mechanical issue nearly prevented me from completing my race but I'm glad I did because I had waited so long – despite having to take nearly eight weeks out of training with a running injury."

Kate Lamb, community and business improvement manager for First TransPennine Express, said: "Huge congratulations to Liam for completing this extremely tough event. We are committed to supporting our staff and local charities and events across the network so it's great we could help Liam again in what we can only imagine was a very challenging encounter."

Off–road bikes seized

The seized bikes

POLICE in Skelmersdale seized several off–road bikes from a home in Digmoor on Thursday, July 23 and arrested a man.

A spokesman said: "We have had numerous calls regarding these bikes causing a nuisance in the Digmoor area and are glad to permanently take them off the streets."

Fury over rubbish left by travellers

"The travellers moved from Garnett Lees playing fields to Chequer Lane playing fields on Monday, July 20. This is council–owned land and the council considers it unsuitable for occupation.

"Council officers served the travellers with a notice the day they moved to quit the Chequer Lane site by the following morning. The council officers have also obtained a court order which forbids the travellers to return to Garnett Lees playing fields.

"The council's environmental enforcement officers will liaise with the police regards littering and fly–tipping and, where individuals responsible can be identified, further action will be taken.

"Where there are large numbers of travellers congregated on a site this is not always practical but the local authority will arrange for the site to be cleared once the travellers have vacated."

'Miracle' kitten Laurie on the mend

Report by Tom Martin

A 'MIRACLE' kitten which was left for dead near Skelmersdale after being thrown from a moving car has now made a full recovery and is in a foster home.

Lucky Laurie, as he was named by staff at animal sanctuary, Rescue Me, has spent the last few weeks being treated by vets and cared for by volunteers.

Rescued animals, like Laurie, go to one of the organisation's foster homes until someone comes forward who wants to permanently adopt them.

The story of how the feline was tossed from the window of a vehicle hit the national headlines earlier this month and even featured on BBC North West Tonight.

Laurie was just seven weeks old when he was left for dead on the M58, near Skelmersdale, on Wednesday, July 15.

Fortunately a passing motorist spotted the stricken animal and he was rushed for emergency vet treatment where it was found he had suffered a broken jaw and was missing teeth.

Lucky Laurie gets cozy with a fellow resident of the foster home

Rescue Me has been posting on its Facebook page ever since with hundreds of social media users wishing the kitten well.

Last week the centre posted: "A week on from his operation and I think you will agree little Laurie is looking amazing! He loves the dogs in his foster home and certainly rules the roost!

"He is like a different kitten, so full of life and excitement. We are so thankful for all your donations and messages of support. They have clearly worked."

Knights ride in with charity specs donation

Ormskirk Knights of St Columba members Tony Gill, Mark Condon, Jim Holland, Matthew Wright and Don McGair with their glasses collection box

MEMBERS of the local branch of an organisation for Catholic men have been doing their bit to help adults and children in Africa with sight problems.

The Ormskirk branch (Council 64) of the Knights of Saint Columba, which promotes the social doctrine of the Catholic Church, has collected dozens of pairs of glasses for the Specsavers' Giving Sight to Africa appeal.

Old or unwanted spectacles collected by the branch have been passed to the opticians who will recycle them through Vision Aid Overseas, a charity which specialises in providing eye care for those in poverty–stricken countries around the world.

Proceeds from recycling the glasses is used to fund the charity work of Vision Aid Overseas. Since its inception in 1987, the UK–based charity has helped more than one million people in the developing world.

The collection was the idea of long–standing knight and St Anne's parishioner, Jim Holland, who said: "If you wear glasses, like me, you are bound to have old pairs of glasses around the house, so why not put them to good use?"

Anyone wishing to donate glasses can drop them off at Specsavers in Church Street, Ormskirk.

Law firm's helping hand for foodbank

Report by Henry James

STAFF at a legal firm have offered a helping hand to the town's needy by organising donations for the Skelmersdale Foodbank.

Emma Tedford, business analyst with Scott Rees and Co. Solicitors, joined forces with the company's marketing team, Chris Parlour and Ronnie Jones, to arrange for staff to donate their non–perishable food over a two–week period.

The response was excellent and came as a welcome boost for the foodbank which has experienced an increase in demand in recent months.

Emma said: "I came up with the idea while watching a TV programme about the homeless. One of the people featured was a former policeman in Manchester and it just got me thinking, you never know what's round the corner. It can only take a small misfortune to find yourself on poverty levels.

"It gives you a sense of goodness by just doing that little bit to help in the local community. It really doesn't cost a lot for some of the basics that many of us take for granted – a carton of UHT milk, a packet of dried pasta, a tin of tomatoes, soup and biscuits, items that can cost no more than around 50p each."

The Scott Rees donation

Emma is not the only member of the firm doing her bit for the charity. Parlegal and admin clerk, David and Bre Swift, regularly volunteer at the foodbank and were praised for being "very supportive" by volunteer co–ordinator, Brenda Lowe.

She said: "More than 340 people – adults and children – have received three days emergency food from Skelmersdale Foodbank since this April this year, compared to 280 in the same period last year. The number of people turning to foodbanks continues to grow.

"We are extremely grateful to Scott Rees and Co., in particular Chris Parlour and Emma Tedford, for setting up this initiative and to their staff for their generosity. This will help greatly in meeting the constant demands for food parcels in the local area."

Chris Parlour said: "We like to give back to the local community by supporting various organisations and charities and the foodbank is one of the more needing of support at this present time."

Series of community events in store

DETAILS have been announced of a number of community events being held in Skelmersdale during August.

Members of the West Lancashire Community Safety Partnership (WLCSP) – including the borough council and Lancashire Police – will host an information and fun day at Evermoor Community Hub on Tuesday, August 4.

The event will run from 10am to 3pm and members of the public can go along and raise any concerns they have about their area, as well as getting information on issues ranging from loan sharks, domestic violence, community safety and tenancy matters.

Meanwhile the Evermoor Hub will also host The Big Lunch on Wednesday, August 5, where people can get to know their neighbours a bit better by having a bite to eat with them.

Wigan Athletic Community Trust will be providing free football coaching sessions for children and there will also be a bouncy castle, go karting and other attractions.

A series of community action days is also being organised by the WLCSP from August 3 to 7.

Like the information day, these are aimed at improving working relationships between local groups, the voluntary sector and statutory agencies, as well as raising community confidence and reducing the fear of crime.

Wigan Athletic Community Trust will be providing free football coaching sessions for children at Tanhouse Enterprise Group centre on Monday, August 3 between 1 and 4pm as part of the first community action day.

At the information day, Skelmersdale residents can get advice on a range of issues from Community Safety Partnership (CSP) agencies. The borough council's tenants and participation team, environmental enforcement team, estate management team and street scene service will be there, along with the police and fire service.

Discover Drug and Alcohol Services, Citizens Advice Bureau, the Liberty Centre and Lancashire County Council's Young People's Service will also attend. Information will also be available from the illegal money lending team.

There will also be fun activities provided for young people to get involved in and the Evermoor Hub will be providing hospitality including free soft drinks and food.

Community action days are planned for different days in Birch Green, Digmoor, Little Digmoor, Castlehey and Tanhouse.

These will coincide with community skips being available in those areas on the following dates for people to get rid of unwanted waste. They will be available from 9.30am and will be removed on the same day as soon as they are full.

•Monday, August 3: Ennerdale, Tanhouse (in the Tanhouse Enterprise Group centre car park).

• Tuesday, August 4 –Birleywood, Digmoor (near Evermoor Hub)

• Wednesday, August 5 – Acregate, Little Digmoor (car park behind Spar)

• Thursday, August 6 – Castlehey (car park next to shop)

• Friday, August 7 – Heversham, Birch Green (bottom car park).

Staff from the council's environmental enforcement, tenants and residents and estates management teams will be at the events along with the community payback team, and police and fire service officers.

Ecumenical Centre to host Fun Day for West Lancs Ark

ORGANISERS of West Lancs Ark CIC, a social enterprise which offers support to people who are homeless, ex–offenders, people with drug and alcohol issues and the unemployed, are holding a Fun Day at their base in the Ecumenical Centre, Skelmersdale, from 11am onwards on Friday, August 7.

During the day there will be kids' games, bouncy castle, a penalty shoot–out and a raffle.

There will also be tables available to hire and any local services who would like to attend should call Jan on 07826 656 387.

West Lancs Ark CIC was set up in 2012 by Janice Monaghan and Carol Hepburn to support disadvantaged people in the borough.

Students' surprise award for 'second family' pair

TWO members of support staff at Edge Hill, who between them have clocked up combined service of more than 50 years, have been given surprise awards.

Janet Forrest and Ann Hill have worked as housekeepers at the university for more than 27 years, often acting as a 'second family' to students living away from home.

And the pair, from Ormskirk, were presented with Student–Led Staff Awards at a graduation ceremony last week, voted for by students at the university.

Ann said: "We were surprised and proud to have been given this award. We both love Edge Hill, that's why we've stayed here so long."

And Janet added: "The students keep us young, they often say we are like a second family to them. We've even been invited to weddings and christenings of former students."

Edge Hill's Student–Led Staff Awards are held each year to honour inspirational teaching staff, personal tutors and support staff who 'go above and beyond.'

Students who nominated Janet and Ann said that they had made the atmosphere in their halls caring and homely and built a real friendship with each flatmate.

Shaun is cancer unit's fundraising star

Sponsored beard–styling nets £2,000 in memory of dad

Report by Henry James

A MAN who came up with a novel charity idea in memory of his late dad has raised more than £2,000 for the cancer care unit where he was treated and earned himself an award into the bargain.

Shaun Nevin from Elmers Green, Skelmersdale wanted to raise money for the cancer care suite at Wigan Infirmary as a thank–you for their support during his father's brave, but ultimately losing, battle with the killer disease.

And the 40–year–old, who works at the Asda Distribution Centre on the town's Stanley Industrial estate, decided to do it by being sponsored by family, friends and colleagues to have his distinctive beard styled in different ways.

The idea proved a winner enabling him to raise a grand total of £2,024 for the hospital which he has donated to the cancer care suite via the Three Wishes organisation, the official charity of the Wrightington, Wigan and Leigh NHS Hospital Trust.

During the fundraiser Shaun dyed his hair green and his beard orange and he said: "Many people commented on my colourful beard and said they liked it, so I decided to make it a permanent fixture.

"I want to say a big thank–you to friends and family for their efforts. My brother, Steven, has been collecting at his work, Electricity North West, where our dad, Phil, also worked, and raised £250.

Shaun is presented with his Star Supporter award by cancer care nurse Jason

"I also want to thank my friends and colleagues on the shop floor at Asda CDC, and last but not least, my 'extended family' at the Miners Arms at Kitt Green where they had two collecting tins and raised £436.

"I found the fundraiser a very humbling experience and thanks to all the support I received I was able to raise more than £2,000 and hopefully dad would have been proud of me.

"Who knows what I will decide to do for my next fundraiser!"

Meanwhile, Shaun was also rewarded for his efforts by The Three Wishes charity by presenting him with a Star Supporter award.

The Giggles farewell party

Mixed emotions at farewell party

THERE was a mixture of laughter and tears when the Giggles day nursery in Inskip, Skelmersdale held a farewell party for their young charges on their last day before continuing their education 'journey' at new schools in September.

Five on drugs charges

FIVE men arrested as part of a major investigation into the supply of cocaine and heroin in Skelmersdale have appeared at Preston Magistrates' Court.

Kevin Hill, 53, of Uppingham, James Cummings, 44, of Wheatacre, Ben Whitelock–Wainwright, 40, of Ann Street and Mark Thistlethwaite, 38, of Barnes Road, all Skelmersdale, were all charged with supplying crack cocaine and heroin, along with James Wright, 23, of Rye Grove, Liverpool.

A 39–year–old man from Liverpool who was arrested on suspicion of being concerned in the supply of cocaine was released on bail pending further enquiries.

A 45–year–old man from Skelmersdale, arrested on suspicion of being concerned in the supply of heroin, was given a caution and a 44–year–old man from Skelmersdale, arrested on suspicion of being concerned in the supply of cocaine, was released with no further action.

Chance to take a walk on the wild side

Report by Henry James

THERE'S a chance to enjoy the borough's towns and countryside, as well as learning about the local widlife, during the West Lancashire Walking Festival.

West Lancs Council rangers have teamed up with walk leaders from different organisations to provide routes that cover as much of the borough as possible.

All the walks are free and there is something to suit all abilities – from short strolls to long–distance rambles

First event is the Butterfly Walk on Saturday, August 1, starting from the Ranger Station at Beacon Country Park at midday. This is a relaxed, informative walk around the park of between two and four miles on which people can look at the different butterflies living there.

Walkers can then take in some of West Lancashire's finest views on an eight–mile ramble around Appley Bridge, Fairy Glen in Parbold and Hunters Hill in Hilldale, on Sunday, August 2.

To take part, meet at the layby on the A5209 (Parbold Hill) close to the Fairy Glen entrance at 10am.

The festival also includes a six–mile circular walk around Ormskirk on Wednesday, August 5, starting from Coronation Park bandstand at 1pm, and a four–mile jaunt around Martin Mere reedbed, starting from the Burscough reserve's visitors' centre at 10am on Friday, August 7.

Walks are planned for every day up until Thursday, August 14, when the final event is an informative walk of between two and four miles looking at different bat and moth species living in Coronation Park, Ormskirk. The walk starts from the bowling pavilion at 8pm.

Walkers are advised to wear sturdy footwear and clothing to suit the weather and conditions for all walks. Dogs are not allowed on the Martin Mere walks, but are welcome on the other walks.

Green Fayre is a red–hot success!

WEST Lancs Council bosses have hailed this year's Green Fayre "a fantastic success."

An estimated 5,000–plus visitors went along to Beacon Country Park on Saturday (July 25) for the annual event celebrating countryside living.

And although numbers were down on Sunday, due to the weather, many still braved the rain to attend and weren't disappointed.

The free show, organised by the council's parks and countryside service, featured a variety of exhibitors and traders demonstrating a wide range of traditional crafts and techniques.

Displays included willow weaving, basket making, blacksmithing, wheelwrighting, pole–lathe turning and many more.

Three–time BBC Radio 2 Folk Award nominee Hannah James headlined the folk marquee and she was supported by a number of talented local musicians performing solo slots before all coming together to play some lively ceilidh tunes to the delight of the crowds.

There was also a range of animal displays and members of the public were able to interact with all sorts from predatory birds and owls, to pigs, sheep and donkeys, with the petting zoo proving particularly popular.

Visitors could also experience the sights, smells and sounds of Viking life in the show's authentic tented village and talk to the 'villagers' while fearsome Viking warriors played out exciting battle scenes in the arena.

Fun activities for younger people included a climbing wall, bouncy castles, trampolines and a small traditional funfair.

Councillor Yvonne Gagen, the council's cabinet member for leisure, said: "The Green Fayre was a great day out for all the family and I would like to thank the West Lancashire Borough Council Rangers for all their hard work organising the event. I am sure everyone who came along enjoyed the fantastic range of attractions, even though the weather was bad on Sunday."

Artist's 'big' mission to mark charity milestone

A FORMER soldier who learned to paint with his 'wrong' hand – despite being left registered blind and disabled following a horrific accident – is aiming to create a big work of art to raise awareness of the charity he credits with helping him rebuild his life.

Matthew Rhodes was serving with the army in Germany when he suffered life–changing injuries in a motorcycle accident just three days before his 21st birthday.

The father–of–four, who also served with NATO forces in Bosnia, was found badly injured at the side of a road in December 1995. It is believed he may have been in collision with a car but there were no witnesses and his injuries left him with no recollection of what had happened.

After 10 weeks in a coma under observation, he was flown back to the UK for further treatment.

As a result of the accident he lost more than six stones in weight and was left paralysed down his right side. Blood clots in his brain also left him with severely restricted sight and poor short–term memory.

But, thanks to his own determination and with the help of Blind Veterans UK, he has rebuilt his life and developed a passion for art after learning to paint with his left hand.

And the 39–year–old, who now lives in Tarleton, aims to inspire others to overcome disability and show that blindness doesn't have to 'hold you back' by undertaking an 8ft by 3ft painting of inspirational members of the charity next month to celebrate the charity's 100th anniversary this year.

He plans to spend nine days, painting for up to 14 hours each day, to complete the work which will go on display at the Imperial War Museum in London on September 23.

Matthew Rhodes painting watched by an admirer

Earlier this year, Matthew painted a portrait of Steven Gerrard, which was signed by the star before being auctioned to raise money for the charity.

He said: "The accident affected how information from my eyes reaches my brain. When I look at someone I can see a tiny area, for example half of one eye, and am able to focus on that area but all around it I can see nothing. When I do a painting I start by doing an outline then focusing on each area to fill in.

"Blind Veterans UK taught me how to paint – I'd never painted before. And I'm left–handed now as I was paralysed down my right side. Although I found it frustrating in the early stages, now I really it.

"The charity is celebrating its 100th anniversary this year, having been started as a result of all the troops who were blinded after being gassed in the First World War.

"To mark the milestone I am doing a painting of current members of the charity who have achieved many things, proving that being blind does not hold you back."

Cloudy2Clear Windows – Service With A Smile!

It's been a crazy few months for Cloudy2Clear Windows. The company which specialises in repairing windows which are steamed up, broken or damaged by replacing the panes – not the frames has grown rapidly as homeowners take advantage of their services.

Manager Paul Kane feels that it's all about service. 'Our product is simple. If your double glazing is misted up we can replace the glass at a fraction of the cost of a new window, in any type of frame, and with a new 10 year guarantee. But it's not just about saving people money, although that obviously helps. Many tradespeople have struggled since last year and I honestly feel that during the good times a minority perhaps didn't focus on customer care as much as they should have done. We make sure we turn up when we say we will, do the job the customer requires and leave their house as clean as a whistle. I often get comments back from customers on how they really didn't expect that sort of service which, in a way, is very sad for the service industry as a whole.'

Cloudy2Clear service the Crosby, Litherland, Aintree, Maghull, Walton, Anfield, Netherton, Bootle, Formby, Ormskirk and Skelmersdale areas & Paul is finding that his approach is a major factor in his success. 'The truth is that it's not just the personal satisfaction that I get from doing a good job but also it makes good business sense. I get a huge amount of business from friends and family of people I've done work for, which just goes to show how much a little bit of effort is appreciated.'

So, if your windows are steamed up, broken or damaged give Paul a call for a free quotation on 0800 61 21 118 and he'll be happy to help!

A DEDICATED club stalwart has been recognised for services to his sport.

Skelmersdale Cricket Club official Peter McCann has been nominated for an OSCA (Outstanding Services to Cricket Award) by the Lancashire County Cricket Board.

And the 49–year–old is certainly a man of many parts – as well as his role as cricket secretary at the Firswood Park outfit, he serves as a coach and welfare officer and was integral in securing Club Mark status and also funding to renovate their practice area.

Peter has also been heavily involved in the NatWest CricketForce initiative, which encourages cricket club members of the club to get work with the local community, as well as regularly supporting fundraising and recruitment drives.

He said: "I see this award as a team achievement and I am pleased for myself and the club to receive this award.

"It shows what a good club we have and hopefully it will encourage more people to come down and play.

"I would like to thank a number of people – Steve Griffiths, club president Bill Regan, who has always backed me, and also vice–chairman Steve Maddox who has been similarly encouraging. I also want to mention former secretary Derek Lowe, who sadly passed away, and our princicpal sponsors Scott Rees and Co. solicitors."

Meanwhile, club member, Stephen Griffiths, commented: "Without Peter's contribution, Skelmersdale CC would not be the thriving club it is today. "

Peter also received a glowing reference from the Lancashire Cricket Board managing director, Bobby Denning, who said: "Peter does what it says on the tin. He works as a volunteer for no other reason than to make a difference and because of his passion for the game. This recognition is well deserved based on Peter's commitment to take on things others probably wouldn't."

And David Byrne, marketing partner for sponsors Scott Rees and Co. added: "We have enjoyed a fantastic relationship with Skelmersdale Cricket Club and Peter is part of that. Without people like him, grass roots sport would struggle

"He is a real credit to the sport, not to mention the local area and I congratulate him on his award on behalf of everyone involved with Scott Rees and Co."

War plane statue would add to site

FOLLOWING the opening of the new Booths store on the newly–constructed Ringtail Retail Park in Burscough (which looks fabulous by the way) could I suggest a way to commemorate the former airfield in another method, aside from the aircraft holder design of Booths itself?

The newly–constructed roundabout would look fantastic with a floral display, a sign to show the name of the retail park and perhaps the council could look at erecting a statue of a world war plane, that was either repaired at the site or stored there.

It would really add a focus to the already impressive–looking site, while remembering the unique heritage of the site as well.

Danny Abraham, Burscough

Farmers aren't the only ones threatened by floods

I WRITE re: the Ormskirk Champion front page article, 'Pump stations are left high and dry by cuts' (July 15).

In emphasising the effects on farmers, your article suggests that it's a problem for agricultural communities alone. Land is one of our greatest assets, its use and management affects everyone's prosperity and quality of life.

The Alt–Crossens catchment contains the highest concentration in the country of land categorised as most productive and fertile. It generates £230million for the local economy and lies mostly within West Lancashire. We can't afford to lose the income this rural economy creates.

Nearly 10,000 people are employed in agriculture in Lancashire. In West Lancashire 16% of rural businesses are directly related to agriculture.

However, the ramifications of losing these to flooding are wider because they support a plethora of related businesses. These include agricultural supply industries, packaging and distribution, food and drink manufacturing, grocery retailers (including major supermarkets), and restaurants.

The significant contribution that the rural economy makes to investment and job opportunities within the borough cannot be ignored.

Global commodities markets have shown significant price increases whilst the country's self–sufficiency in food production is gradually eroded. The ability to feed ourselves is a basic human need and consumer demand for local produce is increasing. The regional and national importance of maintaining the output of our high quality farmland cannot be understated.

Infrastructure is of critical importance in supporting economic recovery and growth, but flooding threatens roads, railways, utility supplies and telecommunications. Although flooding occurs in the low–lying areas these effects will be shared by those on higher ground. Effective water level management is crucial to us all, both in business and daily life.

Government states that it will no longer fund land drainage operations other than for the protection of homes and commercial property. They affirm that protection of agricultural land requires local solutions. This will involve participation of several organisations and need strong leadership from our local councils, particularly West Lancashire Borough Council.

Service of notice on five pumping stations will be followed with further cuts and marks the beginning of a two–year countdown to find a solution.

It's time to wake up and smell the coffee!

John Herbert, Scarisbrick

Disaster waiting to happen . . .

THE closure of the satellite pumps in the Alt–Crossens area is a disaster waiting to happen.

No–one has mentioned the effect on rural properties with septic tanks.

If the watercourses fill up there will be an inevitable back–up of lethal sewerage overflowing into gardens down driveways and into the streets.

In Holmeswood village most of the residents assume that they are on mains drainage but they are not. Everything flows into a massive septic tank off Holmeswood Road with liquid matter running into the ditches and solids taken away in tankers.

If this site overflows the Methodist Primary School would have to close when the toilets back–up as this would pose a serious health risk to vulnerable children.

Adrian Pendleton, Foundation Governor

No need to put up with dog nuisance!

I SYMPATHISE with those who suffer noise nuisance from dogs that bark all day while owners are out, having been through the same experience. My advice is not to put up with it.

First, put in a complaint to the environmental health department of your council. They can write to the dog owners issuing a warning and take further action if needed.

Some councils are pro–active in dealing with noise nuisance and issue on–the–spot fines for offenders. This was the standard method used by police in the region of the USA where I used to live, and it was effective. It was rare to hear continuous barking from dogs as no one wants a visit from the police with an instant fine.

If your council fails to resolve the situation in a timely fashion, you can bring a private prosecution against the guilty party. I used a firm of environmental health professionals. They were able to advise me on my legal rights and how to bring a prosecution, in that case not directly against the dog owners but against the council that was allowing the noise nuisance to persist on their property. The case never got to court as, on receiving the threat of legal action, the council acted quickly to move their troublesome tenants.

You have a right to peaceful enjoyment of your home and those who allow their dogs to annoy neighbours by persistent barking are breaking the law.

C. R., Skelmersdale

I like living in Skelmersdale and that's why I care about facilities

FURTHER to the condition of Skelmersdale's play areas, Mr Peter Etherington requested a response to his interpretation of my recent criticism.

I'm not sure why he felt the need for sarcasm about other locations, but I mentioned them because those are places where I have relatives, or in the case of nearer locations, visited to entertain our grandson during our child–minding days.

I live in Ashurst, Skelmersdale and have done for more than 38 years, by choice. I like Skelmersdale. In my opinion it is only a railway station and hospital short of being the best town in the country, which is why I care about what has happened to it.

When we moved here all the town's play areas were well–equipped, clean and maintained. I did not blame Rosie Cooper, I asked if she was proud of it.

The one person I referred to as being responsible is whoever the buck stops with in the department of the council responsible for cleaning and protecting these facilities.

With reference to Coronation Park, the play area in the one in Ormskirk was the main reason for my disgust (and the Rosie Cooper connection). That is where we feel we have to go to find a good enough local play area.

In so doing it is noticeable that the areas in Summer Street and Birch Green, which are the ones within walking distance of our respective locations, are, by comparison, indeed neglected, filthy and disgusting.

It would appear from your response that there is a divide within Skelmersdale which needs addressing.

David Symons,
Ashurst, Skelmersdale

Spare a thought for night workers

I WAS appalled by AG's thoughtless and offensive response to the problem of barking dogs left outside during the day (July 15).

He says to avoid hearing the racket one should get a job and go to work. Well, Mr AG, I was at work for 45 years and am now enjoying a well–earned retirement and would prefer my peace not to be shattered by yapping dogs – along with 10 million other pensioners.

I'm sure those unfortunate people who are disabled or ill and who are unable to work would say the same thing.

I have a son who is a paramedic who works nights and would like some peace and quiet during the day so that he can sleep, as does his wife, a hospital doctor who also works nights.

So, Mr AG, before writing such dismissive and unpleasant letters, try thinking of other people a bit more. And no, I don't wear pyjamas all day!

Quality of life is a right

RE: the letter headed 'You wouldn't hear dogs if you were at work' (Champion, July 15)'

It is rather presumptous to assume that the people who complained originally don't work, there could be a number of reasons why people are not in work during the day.

Everyone has the right to a peaceful quality of life regardless of whether they work or not.

Nursery 'graduates' sign off in style!

THE Class of 2015 have graduated in style in Aughton!

But these 'graduates' were more than a little younger than usual – at just four years old!

Manager, Jane Waterson, nursery practitioner, Christina Thurston and staff at Portico Kindergarden based at Town Green Primary School held the special graduation–themed ceremony in the school hall to celebrate the class leaving the nursery for reception.

The children wore blue graduation–style robes to the ceremony to celebrate their final day last week.

Jane Waterson said: "Parents and carers were invited to watch the ceremony and each key worker did a little speech about each child. It was alovely service and quite a few workers and parents shed a tear. We do the 'graduations' every year but this one was one of most emotional so far."

£9,000 lottery grant boost for charity

By Danielle Thompson

A CHARITY which helps adults in West Lancashire with learning disabilities to enjoy sporting activities has been given a grant of more than £9,000 from the Big Lottery Fund.

Sporting Challenge is made up of parents and carers who have been providing sporting activities for around 30 people with learning difficulties in West Lancashire for the last seven years.

The charity has received a grant of £9,180 for bowling, boccia and kurling, aerobics, fitness training, country walks, and 12 taster sessions activities including swimming, Wii games and dance.

The sessions will start in August.

Participation in sporting activities is known to improve mental and physical wellbeing, increase confidence and encourage independence.

Members of Sporting Challenge enjoying a day out kayaking

It can be difficult for people with learning difficulties to access sport and exercise activities. Barriers include parents or carers being unable to physically take them and stay with them at classes and they can also experience physical difficulties with participating in mainstream sport and exercise classes.

Sporting Challenge provides special workers who can collect participants from where they live and provide much–needed support while they are having fun, before dropping them off back home.

Edward McCarthy, Sporting Challenge trustee and secretary, said: "I am delighted with this funding award from the Big Lottery Fund. It is a wonderful opportunity for Sporting Challenge and we thank them very much on behalf of everyone."

Man charged with causing death by dangerous driving

A MAN has been charged with causing death by dangerous driving following a collision in Scarisbrick earlier this year in which a Skelmersdale man died.

46–six–year–old Andrew Birch, a passenger in a Peugeot Horizon driven by his 80–year–old mother, suffered fatal injuries when it was in a head–on collision with a Toyota Carina on the A570 Southport Road at around 6pm on Tuesday, January 6.

Both drivers also suffered serious injuries.

Police believe a grey BMW was involved in a dangerous overtaking manoeuvre, causing the other two cars to collide.

Kenneth Grisedale, 56, of Hartwood Road, Southport, is due to appear at Ormskirk Magistrates Court on Tuesday, August 25.

Public invited to have a say on council policy to aid disabled tenants

Report by Henry James

MEMBERS of the public are being invited to give their views on a draft policy to guide how West Lancs Council provides adaptations for its disabled tenants.

The council has a statutory duty to help eligible disabled tenants or those with long–term illness who require an adaptation to their home to enable them to live independently. Adaptations to assist carers in their caring role may also be eligible for grant support.

The draft Landlord Services Disabled Adaptations Policy has been drawn up to help officers deliver the adaptations in a fair way to help as many people as possible and to inform applicants of the criteria the council will apply.

A public consultation has been started by the council so people can give their views on the policy. As well as tenants and the general West Lancashire public, the council will consult with a number of organisations, including the WL Physical Disability Partnership and Age UK.

Councillor Jennifer Patterson, the council's cabinet member for housing, said: "This is a very important document as a suitable, well–adapted home can be a key factor in enabling a disabled person to live well and independently.

"The purpose of this policy is to assist officers in delivering an adaptations programme and to ensure fair and consistent treatment for all tenants with disabilities or long–term illnesses who require such assistance. So please give us your views to help us shape a policy that is suitable for all concerned."

The draft policy aims to clarify a number of issues including maximum funding, how the adaptations affect right–to–buy applications and who is responsible for maintaining them.

To read a copy of the draft policy visit www.westlancs.gov.uk/yourviews and click on consultations underway.

To comment on the draft policy email gillian.sands@westlancs.gov.uk by the closing date of September 1.

Managing your money with Heriot Hughes

BNI FEATURE

The workplace pension reform was introduced in October 2012, in response to difficulties arising from increased life expectancy and low pension savings. The Government initiative requires employers to automatically enrol eligible workers into a qualifying pension scheme, and is being introduced on a staged basis according to business size. From 2015, this was extended to smaller businesses.

With that is mind John Hughes of Heriot Hughes Chartered Accountants and Richard Hawkings of LJ Financial Planning (RH) Limited, formed a joint venture called Heriot Hughes Wealth Management Ltd who is appointed representative of LJ Financial Planning Ltd. John and Richard met through BNI, and between them have over 50 years of experience in financial matters. They can now provide a full tax planning and wealth management service for businesses and individuals, they constantly refer business to each other, based on the trust they have in each other's ability.

The purpose of this venture, is partly to assist clients dealing with the uplifted payroll complexity of auto enrolment and also the investment aspect associated with the latest legislation. It is also to provide a full financial service, centred around lifetime financial planning. We help clients to identify, achieve and maintain their desired lifestyle, without the fear of running out of money, whatever happens.

John and Richard have worked closely together over the years, and have the same client focused approach, to engage for the long term and not for short term gain. John Hughes said: "At the end of the day our prosperity is based on our clients prosperity" Richard added: "So the more we can help plan, to achieve their goals, the better.

"We are keen to engage with clients at an early stage, so that the whole process is managed effectively, and so that businesses and their employees are appropriately advised. It is anticipated that for those businesses that do not start to tackle this now, they could be left out in the cold with no provision, and worse significant fines imposed.

Between 2015 and 2017, over 1 million companies will be staging, which is a staggering 51,134 companies per month.

But is auto enrolment all bad for the employer?

Richard answers: "Well no, by working with Heriot Hughes Wealth Management, clients can benefit by offering a tailored package of benefits to their staff and team, which will ultimately aid staff retention and help save money.

We are going to be running a series of free seminars to outline the benefits and processes to be followed, please contact us on 0151 928 4629 for further information."

I remember when we could be proud of British industry

A BIT of history for you.

A TV programme – 'Cold War, Fast Jets' – brought home to me just why I am a curmudgeonly old reactionary.

This programme described the rise and precipitate nosedive of the British aircraft industry after the Second World War.

It ended on the cancellation of the world–beating TSR2 – a plane which could outdo the legendary Vulcan 'V' bomber in its capability to deliver the nuclear deterrent, yet could out–fly then current fighter jets as well.

The programme told us that the plane (which was undergoing test flying at the time) was cancelled by Harold Wilson when Labour came to power in the mid–sixties.

What it didn't say was that just days before the General Election, Mr Wilson, giving a speech to English Electric workers in Preston (where the plane was built) assured them that if Labour won the election, the plane, and their jobs – would be safe.

It wasn't and they weren't.

And this money–saving action, rightly or wrongly, put the final nail in the coffin of the British aircraft industry, which since the end of WW2 had led the world (including the mighty USA) in the production of advanced jet engines and planes.

When I was at school in the late 1950s my friend Ashley Sollit was a plane 'nut' and proudly told me (and showed photos) of the then new English Electric P1B 'Lightning' jet fighter. Another Great British triumph.

And my class went on a day trip to the Avro factory near Manchester to watch the mighty Vulcan bombers coming off the production lines.

So yes, we were proud, quite justly, of being British and still fighting above our weight on the world stage.

It wasn't only our aircraft either. Our shipyards could – and did – still build great ships such as the aircraft carrier HMS Ark Royal and the forever memorable RMS QE2.

And my hobby at the time – buses. Not so impressive as Vulcans admittedly, but in the 1960s Leyland buses were famous in, and exported to, countries all over the world.

That was another industry wrecked by Government interference of course. British Leyland, a kind of shotgun marriage between the highly successful Leyland truck and bus–building business and ailing Austin–Morris cars, cut off investment in the really great commercial company to prop up the badly–run and managed car division.

The end result we all know. We hardly have a truly British car maker at all now, and the once apparently invincible Leyland buses and lorries are no more.

We can't even produce our own chocolate or run our own shops any longer.

Even the groups which run our train and bus services are now foreign owned.

And to all those who say 'So what? It's a global economy and people like you are Little Englanders living in a world long gone', I can only say that yes, I suppose that is what I must be.

But I remember as a small boy when children's publications such as the Meccano magazine would tell us of the latest achievement of British industry (now modelled by Dinky or Hornby Dublo).

For me, I'm afraid, 'Fings just aren't wot they useter be'.

New Healthwatch team recruited to improve services

A NEW team has been recruited at Healthwatch Lancashire to develop their programme of Enter and View assessments across the county.

Michelle Chapman, Linda Brown, Julie Downs and Lynn Ireland have joined the Healthwatch Lancashire team to concentrate on delivering the programme of assessments which aim to improve health and social care services in the county.

The team will focus on Healthwatch Lancashire's responsibility to enter health and social care premises and gather people's views on the quality of care and observing the environment.

The aim for the Enter and View project is to work in collaboration with health and social care services to identify areas where they can improve, to raise any areas of concern and to ensure that people are receiving the best possible quality of care.

Sheralee Turner–Birchall, volunteers and project officer manager, said: "The overall aim of the Enter and View project is to provide support for services and to help them to identify how they can improve by listening to the experiences of those who are using them.

"The team has a vast amount of knowledge and skills which will ensure that this really benefits the people of Lancashire."

Healthwatch Lancashire is currently working with the Care Quality Commission, North West Ambulance Service and the Lancaster Health Hub to develop a credible approach for undertaking the assessments.

The Enter and View team will take part in the assessments along with volunteers who will receive the appropriate training before undertaking the role.

Patients urged to join trust's reader panel

PATIENTS are being urged to sign up to Lancashire Care NHS Foundation Trust's reader panel to help the trust to improve its service in the future.

Those on the panel can give their insight and opinions to ensure that service user and carer information is of the highest quality when developing our patient information leaflets, booklets and other printed materials for the trust.

Dee Roach, director of nursing, quality and governance at the trust, said: "It's vital that the content we print is understandable, clear and concise so that important messages are not lost. Joining our reader panel provides an invaluable perspective and will ensure that the information we provide to service users, their carers and family regarding the services and care we provide will be the best it can be to help aid recovery.

"Whether you are a current service user, or you have been in the past, if you have clinical or editorial experience or you are simply interested in ensuring high quality care, your insight would be extremely valuable in offering advice on the information the trust is producing."

'Queen Elsa' with pupils at Tarleton Holy Trinity Primary School at their last–day party

'Royal' visitor drops in on pupils' end–of–year party

YOUNGSTERS at a West Lancs primary school got a pleasant surprise when an unexpected 'royal' guest dropped in on their end–of–year party.

A professional look–alike of Queen Elsa, lead character in the animated Disney box–office hit, 'Frozen' delighted pupils at Tarleton Holy Trinity CE Primary when she joined them for the get–together to mark the end of term.

Headteacher at the school in Church Road, Stephen Smith, said: "We have had some famous people visit our school in the past but it was special when Queen Elsa dropped in!

"After signing in, she visited some of our classes before going to the school hall where she joined in a sing–song with our Stepping Stones pre–school group. The children were delighted to sit with her and enjoy the experience during their end–of–year party."

Mayor opens Nostalgia Day

MAYOR of West Lancashire, Councillor Nikki Hennessy, performed the official opening of the Summer Day of Nostalgia event held at the Emmanuel Methodist United Reformed Church in Derby Street, Ormskirk.

Cllr. Hennessy and her consort Paul were greeted by organisers Reverend Melvin Kelly, Lilian Graham and Cynthia McClenaghan who showed them around the displays, including 15 vintage wedding dresses dating as far back as 1890, wartime memorabilia and vintage toys.

All proceeds from the event will go towards the refurbishment of the church.

150–plus attend first police apprentice recruitment event

MORE than 150 people attended the first apprentice recruitment event held by Lancashire Constabulary.

Staged in conjunction with North Lancs Training Group, it offered an opportunity to learn about the various new apprentice roles available at the constabulary headquarters and the office of the county's police and crime commissioner.

Young people aged between 16 and 23 were invited to listen to a range of speakers from the National Apprenticeship Service, North Lancs Training and existing apprentices on the benefits of joining the force, what the roles entail in which department and what is expected from interested recruits.

Constabulary recruitment manager, Louise Miller, who started as an apprentice with British Gas and before joining the force 21 years ago, said: "Lancashire Police is a fantastic place to work, whether you are full–time or a volunteer. Hopefully what the young people saw and heard at the event will inspire them to sign up."

And police and crime commissioner, Clive Grunshaw, commented: "This is a really great opportunity for two talented apprentices to come and work with my office. We have had apprentices join us previously and they are continuing to work successfully as part of the team.."

Louise Miller added: "You don't need to have attended to be able to apply. Simply visit North Lancs Training Group website www.ntlg.co.uk/apprenticeships or email recruitment@nltg.co.uk."

Fitness tips for families

HEALTH professionals have revealed top tips for families to keep fit this summer.

Lancashire Care NHS Trust's Fit Squad are encouraging families in the region to team fun with exercise, to keep the whole family entertained over the summer break.

The Fit Squad provide support for people who want to lose weight, become more active and improve their diet.

Their 'tips' include taking part in physical activity that doesn't feel like a work– out, such as a trip to the local park or bowling alley; swimming where children can have fun with their friends while getting vital exercise and cycling where the list and lengths of possible journeys is endless.

They also advise looking out for advertisements at local leisure centres where there is often lots going on, including play schemes and activity clubs.

Tracy Sutton from Lancashire Care NHS Foundation Trust said: "The summer is a great time to start getting active and make small changes to leading a healthier life.

"Going out for walks or playing sports with friends or family will bring you closer together and help you keep active at the same time."

County council wins digital skills award

LANCASHIRE County Council has won an award for helping people to learn digital skills.

The authority picked up the Digital Skills Charter award at the 'I Made A Difference' ceremony organised by charity, Go ON UK.

The awards celebrate both the people whose lives have been changed for the better by the Go ON North West campaign and those people, businesses and charities who have shared their skills with others.

Categories ranged from 'Personal Impact', for those who have benefited from learning basic digital skills, to 'North West Digital Leader', which appointed one digital champion as the face of Go ON North West.

The Digital Skills Charter award, sponsored by the Post Office, recognised how the county council fulfilled the Digital Skills Charter commitments – establishing Go ON Lancashire and supporting colleagues, communities and customers to gain digital skills and ensure digital services are usable by all.

County council leader, Jennifer Mein said: "There are 120,000 adults in Lancashire who have never been online and are missing out on vital services and opportunities. We are committed to helping these people.

Lynne Johnstone and Nick Kershaw from Lancashire County Council, pictured with Alan Taylor from The Post Office

"Through the Superfast Lancashire programme we are making sure that as many people as possible will have access to a fast internet connection and through Go ON Lancashire we are working with partners to ensure that people have the skills to benefit from that access."

Gallery hosts arts activities for kids

WEST Lancs Council's Chapel Gallery in St Helens Road, Ormskirk, will host a range of arts activities for chidlren during the summer holidays.

There are art sessions for 8 to 12–year–olds every Tuesday to Friday from 10.30am to 12.30pm during August. Activites include painting, sculpting, using mixed media and print, all facilitated by a professional artist.

The cost is £5 per session, £15 for a week or £50 for all sessions over the whole month, payable in advance.

For pre–school children there will be free creative play sessions every Wednesday afternoon in August, between 2 and 3.30pm.

The first session is on Wednesday, August 5 and children must be accompanied by an adult.

For further details ring the gallery 01695 571328, or email chapel.gallery @westlancs.gov.uk.

Meanwhile, the gallery's regular creative space will also be free to use for families on Tuesday, Thursday and Friday afternoons between 2 and 4pm.

Children of any age are welcome for these 'drop–in' sessions but must be accompanied by an adult.

Grand gesture in memory of workmate

PHARMACY staff have raised more than £1,000 for charity in memory of a workmate who passed away last year.

The staff, who work at Halsall Pharmacy, Halsall Road and Ormskirk Pharmacy, Derby Street, raised £1,168 for the British Heart Foundation in memory of colleague, Steve Lawrence, who collapsed and died last May.

Ali Moody, manager of Halsall Pharmacy, said: "Steve was a popular figure in the local community, delivering prescriptions with a friendly smile and always willing to help everyone. The two communities rallied together and donated raffle prizes, with the star prize being a signed Steven Gerrard Liverpool FC shirt. Customers and staff at Halsall Pharmacy also baked and sold cakes to raise further funds."

Staff members Paul Middleton, Emma Edwards, Louise Naylor and Halsall Pharmacy manager Ali Moody presented the money to Dot Woods from the Briish Heart Foundation

New arrivals expected to cause a splash at Mere!

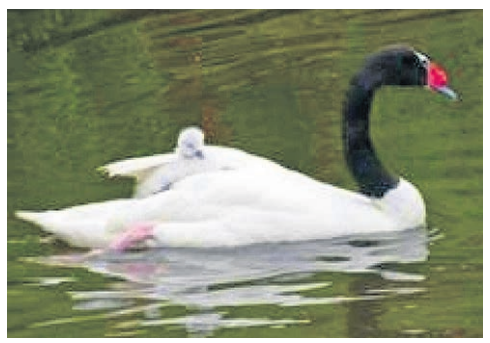
MARTIN Mere has welcomed four cute new arrivals to its wildfowl community which are expected to be popular with visitors to the Burscough nature reserve.

The newcomers are two black swan cygnets and two black–necked swan cygnets.

The black swan cygnets can be seen walking around on the grass in the centre's 'Weird or Wonderful' attraction area, while the black–necked swan cygnets can often be found riding around on the backs of their parents on the water, tucked under their wing.

Martin Mere grounds manager, Steve Nasir, said: "This pair of black swans only paired up in 2013 when Weird or Wonderful opened and they have been successful in rearing almost 10 cygnets since them. We are confident that they will continue to be good parents and raise them successfully.

"The black–necked cygnets are paler in colour and spend most of their time in the water or riding on their parents backs.



One of the black–necked cygnets 'hitches' a ride with a parent

"They make a great and very cute photograph opportunity. Both sets of cygnets are very different and visitors should look out for them over the summer holidays."

School's out for long–serving head

THE final bell has rung for the long–serving headmaster of a West Lancs school.

A special leaving ceremony was held in honour of Lawrence Smye–Rumsby (left) who has held the reins at Becconsall All Saints CE Primary School for 15 years.

In a 36–year teaching career Mr Smye–Rumsby, who officially retires at the end of August, also served as head Higher Walton CE Primary, near Preston, as deputy head at Parbold Douglas CE Primary for seven years and also taught in two schools in Skelmersdale where he lives.

He said: "During my time, I have seen many changes in education but still believe that purposeful enthusiasm is the key to unlocking learning within children."

Free music festival coming this weekend

BICKERSTOCK 2015, Bickerstaffe's free music festival is coming this weekend, (August 1 and 2), on Bickerstaffe Parish Field starting at 12pm.

This two day festival has been showcasing a variety of music and supporting original, local talent for over 10 years and attracts a wide audience of all ages from the area.

Paul Draper, founder, said: "Bickerstock is going from strength to strength, thanks to the efforts of all the volunteers and bands and musicians who all play for free and without whom, the festival would not happen."

This year's bands line–up can be found on www.bickerstock.org. along with timings, directions, how to apply for a stall etc.

Mr Draper goes on to say: "We have two large marquees covering the stages, bar and cafe, so we are fully prepared for British Summer weather! And remember all donations received and all money raised from the sale of food and drink, is used for the next festival and also donated to local good causes and charities, so come along and suggest one!"

Bickerstock has always had a family feel to it and campers are welcome on the Bickerstaffe Parish Field by prebooking on–line.

Paul added: "If you would like to get involved with Bickerstock's warm and friendly Crew, we are always in need of help, so please get in touch via the website or Facebook page, Bickerstock – The Official Facebook Group!. It's always a fun experience and many lasting friendships have been made over the years. The festival only happens because of the commitment of everyone on a voluntary basis!"

England and Scotland to join together for night at Atkinson

THE Tweed Project, a new collaboration from some of the best award–winning young musicians out there on the UK folk music scene, is coming to the Atkinson on Friday, August 7 at 7.30pm.

The outfit combines the talents of English folk duo Greg Russell and Ciaran Algar, with Scottish trio Mischa MacPherson, Innes White and Ali Levack.

Greg Russell and Ciaran Algar released their debut album, The Queen's Lover in 2012, and won the BBC Young Folk Award in February 2013 and then the Horizon Award, for best newcomers, at the main event at the Royal Albert Hall a year later. Their latest album, The Call, was a featured album on Folk Radio UK.

Likewise, Mischa MacPherson, along with her trio, was the 2014 BBC Radio 2 Young Folk Award winner. She also went on to pick up the Gaelic Singer of the Year Award at the MG Alba Scots Trad Music Awards in December 2014. Mischa is a Gaelic native and clarsach player from Lewis, in the Outer Hebrides.

For this new project she is joined by Innes White, an accomplished guitarist, mandolin player, pianist and singer and Ali Levack who's been perfecting his piping skills since the age of nine.

Champion MOTORS

NEWS DESK · 01704 392 400
www.champnews.com

Like Opal Fruits, does anyone miss the MGF?

The sporty motor wasn't perfect but its absence speaks volumes

Life On Cars
DAVID SIMISTER
www.lifeoncars.blogspot.com

The MGF was a hit in the 1990s with sports car fans. Code NA

OPAL FRUITS, Stephen Fry's tweets and Top of the Pops. It's funny how you only really start appreciating some things when they're gone.

In fact, I'd like to add the MGF to that list. This weekend marks the car's official 20th birthday celebrations – and the more I think about it, the more I realise its absence is a fairly significant bit of Britain's automotive armory missing.

Okay, so it wasn't perfect.

If I had a pound for every armchair critic who dismisses the 'F' for blown head gaskets I'd have enough to buy a replacement Rover K–Series engine, but much more serious were its poor showings in customer satisfaction surveys when it was new. Oh, and Anthea Turner was a proud owner.

Yet despite Anthea's best efforts Britain loved the 'F' – in fact, for a brief stint it actually outsold Mazda's MX–5 – so for more than a decade it acted as the nation's fun, inoffensive sports car of choice. Just like the MGB did a generation earlier.

Where is the modern equivalent? It's the middle of summer, there's a generation of company car drivers given allowances rather than mid–range Mondeos by their fleet managers – and what I suppose would be called the MGG is nowhere to be seen.

MG is alive and well, but it should be hunting on the territory it used to call its own as well as targeting the Hyundai–peddling masses.

I drove an MG3 last year and it was frugal and fun in an old–school, Citroen Saxo–ish sort of way. I suppose – and feel free to raise your eyebrows at this one – it does sort of live up to the legacy left by the old MG Metro. Fair enough, but what I reckon the world really craves is another proper MG, the sort you can pop the roof down and enjoy when the sun's shining, and hole up in the pub and discuss breakdowns when it isn't.

The MGF's old rivals – the Fiat Barchetta, the Toyota MR2, the Alfa Spider and so on – are all gone, leaving the MX–5 as just about the only option left if you want a small, fun, inoffensive sports car.

Now is the time for MG's Chinese masters to make it happen, but chances are they won't. Don't get bored with waiting – chuck a grand at a cheap MGF and remind the world what it's missing.

Honda says the new Jazz is only slightly longer but a lot roomier than the old one. Code NA

Honda's supermini price is jazzed up!

PRICES for Honda's new supermini will start at £15,715, the Japanese manufacturer has confirmed.

The third generation of the Jazz, which arrives here in September, is available with just one engine so far – a 1.3–litre petrol engine – and a choice of different trim levels. The range tops out with the automatic gearbox–equipped EX version, which costs £16,815.

MotorFest returns to West Lancashire

THE organisers of the Ormskirk MotorFest are to bring back Aintree's motor racing circuit – in Scalextric form, that is!

Event organiser Aintree Circuit Club will build a scale version of the place where Sir Stirling Moss won his first British Grand Prix.

It'll be in the Masonic Hall on the corner of Aughton Street and Park Road between 11am and 5pm on August 30.

Classic cars and bikes are on display in the town centre and Coronation Park from 11am ahead of a parade at 2.30pm.

Warning over rise in drivers taking photos behind the wheel

NEW research by the Institute of Advanced Motorists (IAM) reveals the shocking extent to which drivers use their phones and tablets to take selfies, make video calls and watch videos while driving.

The findings come from research commissioned this month exclusively by the IAM, which asked 500 drivers how they use their smartphones and tablets in the car.

Results show that nine per cent of drivers admitted to taking a selfie while driving 'in the last month'. This increases to 15 per cent of young drivers aged 18–24 and 19 per cent of 25–35 year olds. Women are less selfie obsessed than men, with just five per cent of women citing they have taken a selfie while driving compared to 12 per cent of men.

Eight per cent of drivers admitted to driving while using a video–calling application such as FaceTime and Skype to make and receive video calls, rising to 16 per cent among 18 to 24 year olds.

An IAM study in 2012 showed that using a smartphone while driving is more dangerous than driving at the legal alcohol limit or when using cannabis. Drivers have much slower reaction times, difficulty staying in the same lane and are less able to adapt to even slowly changing circumstances.

IAM's chief executive officer, Sarah Sillars said: "Everyone knows how dangerous using a smartphone or tablet is while driving. That's why it's shocking to see new trends like taking selfies and making video calls becoming common practice."

Burscough batsmen undone by Depieza

BURSCOUGH remain on top of the Second Division, despite their second defeat in two weeks, this time by two wickets at Parkfield Liscard.

The visitors elected to bat and thanks to Lee Berrie (60) and Brendan Domigan (22) put 149 up on the board, with Sadrey Depieza taking the bowling honours with 6–50.

In reply almost everyone weighed in with 20s and 30s for the hosts who reached 153–8 to clinch victory, with Navdeep Aujla taking 3–47.

Burscough remain 58 points clear of Aldy.

Skelmersdale were beaten by 23 runs at home to Sutton (St Helens). Muhammed Baig claimed three three top order wickets for 62 while Matthew Fenney took 5–39 to restrict the visitors to 183 all out. Opener Joe Till scored 31 in Skelmersdale while Muhammed Baig top scored with 46 but the middle and late order fell away

Maghull remain second in the First Division after going down by 10 wickets at Colwyn Bay.

Joel Brockley took his seasons run tally to 724 with 37 more and skipper Greg Gillespie hit 34 as they were dismissed for 119, with Samad Fallah taking 5–53 and Phil Jenkins 4–17. In reply, Sion Morris (76*) and Zac Gidlow (31*) raced to 120–0 in 14.2 overs.

This weekend's local LDCC Division One and Two fixtures: Rainford v Fleetwood Hesketh, Burscough v Alder, Spring View v Hightown St Mary's, Wavertree v Skelmersdale.

Spin duo do damage again for Ormskirk

ORMSKIRK cruised to an eight wicket home victory over Southport & Birkdale on Saturday to keep in touch with the Liverpool & District Cricket Competition Premier Division leaders.

Only Josh Bohannon (54) and skipper Chris Firth (19) offered much with the bat for S&B as they were dismissed for 119, with spin duo Simon Kerrigan 4–30 and Dane Currency 3–30 again doing the business with the ball.

In reply, former skipper Ian Robinson (64*) and wicketkeeper Gary Knight (33*) were both unbeaten as Ormskirk raced to 123–2. The result leaves Ormskirk are five points behind leaders New Brighton.

S&B are second from bottom in the table, one point below Highfield and 11 points in front of bottom team Wallasey who they play at the weekend.

Northern moved up to third place with a three wicket win at Wallasey. The hosts were dismissed for 120, thanks to 5–22 from Ryan Maddock, with Jack Leckey top scoring with 32.

In reply, Northern recovered for 41–7 to 125–7, thanks to an unbeaten 84 run winning partnership from Justin Snow (65*) and Stephen Cole (21*). Fifth placed Formby won a tight contest at Highfield by three runs, as England Under 19s batsman Haseeb Hameed hit 75 and Jack Vale 28 in Formby's 155 total, with Tom Ashton taking 3–20.

In reply the hosts slipped from 82–1 to 152 all out, thanks to the experienced Gary Keedy 5–41 and Alex Lines 4–54.

The result leaves Formby in fifth place in the table.

This weekend's local LDCC Premier Division fixtures: Birkenhead Park v Ormskirk, Formby v Bootle, Northern v Highfield, Southport & Birkdale v Wallasey.

Bumper crowd expected at Victoria Park as Linnets host Manchester United Under 21s

A BUMPER crowd is expected at Burscough FC when they host Manchester United Under 21s on Friday at Victoria Park, kick off 7.30pm. Linnets manager Mark Beesley said: "The Manchester United game is a great opportunity for the players to test themselves against players with Premier League experience. To play against one of the biggest clubs in the world, with a big crowd expected it will be a night to remember for Burscough FC." Burscough round off their pre–season matches at Skelmersdale United on Tuesday, August 4 and at home to Marine on Saturday, August 8.

Skem draw with FA Vase finalists

SKELMERSDALE United drew 1–1 with FA Vase finalists Glossop North End on Saturday, Phil Mooney giving Skem the lead in the 47th minute before Sam Hare levelled for the Derbyshire side.

Both teams attacked for the whole 90 minutes and but for quality performances by Skelmersdale goalkeeper Martin Fearon and his counterpart from Glossop the teams could easily have shared about eight goals rather than the two they eventually did.

The Glossop game followed one at Prescot Cables that was won 2–0.

Skem have two home friendlies this week, against AFC Fylde on Saturday, and at home to Burscough travel on Tuesday, 7.45pm kick off.
